The Torah Portions Chart

This Chart is provided for daily and weekly usage, along with work vacation scheduling. The reading cycle given is according to the Sabbath and Feast cycle done in the Land of Israel instead of the Diaspora. We, as believers, know that the Temple is in Heaven and each of us is called to be a priest. As such, we are not in the 'Diaspora' and are not using the extra days that have been added on to the Feasts and Sabbaths; so the Torah portions will differ from other Jewish calendars. The added days often affect the weekly readings by putting special sabbaths (of two days) on a weekly Sabbath, thus moving the Torah portions. This is noticed most with Simchat Torah, an extra day added to the end of Succot to celebrate and end the Torah Portions.

- NOTES: 1. The Hebrew day begins at dusk (or basicly, sundown). Therefore, when reckoning time from the Gregorian (standard U.S.) calendar, the Hebrew day starts on the prior "U.S. Civil Calendar" day (causes confusion in the reckoning of Biblical time).
 Example: Passover begins after the dusk of Nisan 14 (which begins Nissan 15). In 2012, that equates to sundown of 06 April until sundown of 07 April (e.g., the entire day of Passover).
2. When planning days off from work, those who work a second or third shift should plan to take off at sundown of the prior
3. Second Column information (see examples below):
- a. "H" denotes a day free from work (take vacation if you can).
 - b. Any number 1 through 54 denotes the standard "weekly" readings (due to the leap month, some portions are combined)
 - c. "P" represents an optional reading for various denoted days.
 - d. "S" represents a special Sabbath and it's readings.
4. The Biblical reckoning of the new moon is based on visible light from the Temple by the Cohen. The Rabbinic and Gregorian method is to begin the new moon at the calculated point of growing brighter (not visible light). Until there is a temple, we choose to use the Rabbinic method (a combination of the two as calculated by the Rabbis).

Key	H	-- Holy day - day of no work.
	 	-- Other notable days (e.g., Channukah, Inspection of the Lamb)
	22	-- Traditional Weekly TORAH Portion
	S	-- Special Shabbat Readings (e.g., Shabbat Parah, Zakhor, Sukkot)
	P	-- Reading for "Rosh Chodesh Elul" or "Hag Chametz", etc.
